NEGLECTED

We are getting more and more impatient with the complaints that this or that element or group in the population is being neglected.

A recent magazine article takes up the lament for the residents of trailer parks in the vicinity of war industries. It says that such cities as Mobile neglect the people housed in tent-slacks, trailers and such dwellings.

Heretofore we have heard that many cities neglect negroes. First on behalf of one group and then of another someone tries to high heaven.

The people of the United States or of some minor subdivision are neglecting-again.

The pioneers of this country were neglected. Who provided housing for them? You and I have been neglected. Who provided us with anything? We worked for what we have had and when we did not get what we needed or demanded at one job or in one place we moved and kept trying until we found it.

The inhabitants of the trailer parks around Mobile and everywhere else could organize and provide all real necessities for themselves. They could organize schools, they wanted to work, they would work parties to clean up and drain their areas. They could do a lot of things if they would put forth the effort.

We are ruining a lot of good Americans by educating them to believe that they are being neglected when someone does not come along like a kindly Santa Claus and do for them anything that they would be doing for themselves if they had the old American spirit.

If we neglected these people it is because we have neglected to teach them what it means to be an American.—Tallahassee Democrat.

TASTIER YEAR AHEAD
Peppermint sticks, chewing gum and toothpaste have a tastier year ahead. Reason: They'll get more oil of peppermint, a lot of which normally was imported from Japan.

Last year, candy-makers, drug houses and other big users were limited to a flat 30 per cent of 1941 consumption. A ruling due today will hike the pharmaceutical quota to 100 per cent of 1941, dentrific to 75 per cent, chewing gum and confections to 70 per cent.

Despite a bad producing year for domestic mint growers in the "big five" states (Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, California and Oregon) the war food administration reports the co-operation of consuming industries and better inventories make the quota boost possible.—Wall Street Journal.

FOND MEMORIES

A neutral, visiting Berlin, was curious about the food situation. He turned to a native, who was acting as his guide, and asked:

"Is it true that Germans are eating horse meat?"

"Ach!" reminisced the nazi, "those were the good old days."—Flexigun.

SALUTE

A story in the current issue of Infantry Journal illustrates a salutary cure for carelessness in the matter of military courtesy.

An enlisted man, the sergeant, passed a lieutenant colonel in the medical corps on the street and looked him right in the eye but failed to salute. The colonel called the soldier back instead of a fire-and-brimstone sermon and simply said:

"Corporal, I saw you walking down the street toward me and I thought, 'Here's another chance for me to salute a fellow soldier. I wanted to salute you because I think we are in the best army in the world and I'm proud of every one of my fellow soldiers. But you didn't salute me, and it hurt just a little bit. You're not ashamed of being a corporal in our army, are you?'"

For a moment the corporal was non-plussed, then said, "Just a minute, sir." He walked back up the street about 20 feet turned around and gave the colonel a most military salute, flashed a grin and said, "Thank you, sir," and went his way.—Moore Haven Democrat.

MAD CAMEL!

The soldier on patrol at a North African desert outpost, at the moment the blazing tropical sun. He saw a camel walking toward him. The camel was foaming furiously at the mouth. The soldier ran to the corporal of the guard and cried out to him in great excitement:

"There's a mad camel walking out there!"

"What do you mean?" asked the corporal.

"Mad camel," repeated the soldier, "like mad mad."

The two men called the Arab who took care of the animals and he conducted an investigation. What he eventually found out was this:

The camel had broken into a crate of newly arrived soap, consumed about a dozen pieces, and then rushed to the oasis for a drink. The animal foamed continuously for a week.—Parade.

Bus Lines Plan Stock Merger

JACKSONVILLE, Feb. 3.—(FNS)—V. E. Abbott, vice president and general manager of the Florida Motor Lines corporation, announced this week that the Greyhound Corporation had made an offer to the stockholders of the Florida Motor Lines, to acquire the outstanding capital stock of that corporation in exchange for common stock of the Greyhound corporation.

The proposed acquisition is subject to the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission and Florida Railroad, Commission and an appropriate appeal will be made to these agencies in the near future, Abbott said.

The Greyhound corporation has stated that following the acquisition, if approved, "no changes in the present operating personnel of the Florida Motor Lines is contemplated."

Through this affiliation with Greyhound, the Florida Motor Lines would be in a better position to secure needed equipment and maintain better service, it was stated.

Whitehurst is New Deal Critic

HOMESTEAD, Feb. 3.—(FNS)—In a letter to all county chairmen, D. L. Whitehurst, Homestead editor and New Deal critic, appealed to all Democratic party workers to seek harmony within the organization. He urged county chairmen to work for and support an untruncated delegation to the national convention.

Whitehurst, who is a candidate for national committee, said he did not believe the rank and file of the party in Florida would support wholeheartedly a hand-picked running mate for President Roosevelt. He said he felt sure the nomination of an old line southern Democrat to the vice presidency would be the best way to preserve harmony within the party.

JACKSONVILLE, Feb. 3.—(FNS)—Every inch of available display space in the large Duval County Armory was filled with industrial exhibits from every section of Florida when the doors opened Tuesday for the first day of the exhibition.

Other displays include plastics, dehydrating machines, lens grinding, phosphate mining, tung oil products, shipbuilding, furniture, gauges, landing barges, paper making, ammunition boxes and shells, glass, and many others.

The U. S. Sugar Corporation of Cleveiston has reserved a large space for the display of lemon grass and other agricultural products which have attracted state-wide notice.

The exhibition is sponsored by the Florida Economic Development Council, Florida State Chamber of Commerce, Jacksonville Chamber of Commerce and the Jacksonville Tourist and Convention Bureau, in cooperation with the Smaller War Plants Corporation.

New Series Of Sermons To Start

The next of the series of sermons on the subject of Heaven, titled "Will We Know Each Other in Heaven?", will be preached at the First Baptist Church of Tallahassee, Sunday morning at eleven, by the pastor Rev. C. A. Moberg.

The sermon, Mrs. Moberg, will sing "When They Ring Those Golden Bells."

All members and friends of the Intermediate Department are requested to be present for the Sunday School hour, 9:45, for the opening of the newly completed Intermediate Building, which houses four classes and arranged for the social program of said group. Mrs. Moberg is the Superintendent. The Training Union hour and the Preaching Service will not be conducted Sunday night because of the revival at the Methodist Church. All Baptists are urged to attend this last night.

The Wednesday Night "Prayer, Prayer and Bible Study" program will be continued this week. It is requested that all participating in "The Road To Bible Through" program, submit the number of chapters read. All proxies are requested to be present for if over OUR BOYS needed prayer, it is now. The Book of Jonah will be studied—all are asked to bring their Bibles.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY

by Russell Kay

Although not listed among the nation's U. S. O. or Service Clubs, Dick Pope's beautiful Cypress Gardens at Winter Haven are doing plenty to bring pleasure and happiness to thousands of "GI Tourists" from every state in the Union.

Throughout the nation today, and particularly in Florida and the Southeast, many tourists are attracted by the millions prior to the war have been boarded up for the duration, but gasoline rationing, travel restrictions and numerous other difficulties have not been enough to discourage the millions of tourists who met the situation by going after the kind of business at hand, and he has made his famous attraction "an essential industry" for the entertainment of service men and women quartered in this state.

Official convoys from state encampments and air fields carry the "GI Tourists" to and from the Cypress Gardens, where the entertainment is constantly provided and a bevy of charming and beautiful hostesses await the opportunity to make welcome the visitors.

For many years the Gardens have been known for the scores of beautiful girls recruited mostly from nearby points, all "local talent" and most of them going to school, who report for duty at Dick Pope's bidding. You see their picture on magazine covers, in the rolodexes, sections of newspapers and in countless newsreels. They wear gorgeous costumes designed especially for them and participate in extra-ordinary and the newest camera work.

From bathing girl to old fashioned hoop-skirts, military and parade enhanced, of course, by the unveiled floral beauty that the gardens afford.

Dick Pope, the active alert general manager, is always busy in some sort of program for the entertainment of the visiting servicemen. A Florida woman is crowned with colorful ceremony almost every week.—Gardens Queens, Asses Queens and Water Sports such as boat races, water skiing and diving or swimming, basketball and so on. There is no one who loves it.

Twenty-first century Fox is now making a technical style movie, "The Cypress Gardens movie," which it will cost between $35,000 and $40,000 to produce and will require a picture of four weeks on location to complete. Five movies have been shot at the Gardens in the last six months by the country's leading producers. Scores from this lovely spot have been used in many leading movie productions. Among recent releases are "Soldier in Blue," "GI Joe," "Soldier in Paradise," "GI Joe" and Grant and Rice's "Swing Parade".

Day in and day out, year in and year out, Dick Pope is publicizing Florida and keeping the beauty and charm of our State in the minds of millions of readers and movie patrons. He has never been appreciated for the service he has rendered the State, but he is worth more to Florida than a dozen Chambers of Commerce or a score of Publicity Committees. But Dick seeks neither fame nor glory. He is content to do his job and let the millions of tourists who visit his gardens know that he is doing his best for them.

A recent group of army photographers came to the Gardens on a field assignment and picked up the most beautiful girl in the photograph. A Life Magazine picture editor saw one of the photos and immediately assigned his ace cameraman, Alfred Eisenstadt, to Florida to make a three page layout of pictures at Cypress Gardens, with captions going Florida and the Gardens full credit—publicity worth thousands of dollars that money could not buy. IN UNCLE SAM'S SERVICE Pahokee Lions Club Greetings To Members

When Lion President George Bulk asked me at the Club Luncheon yesterday to write this letter I probably should have refused because I had just arrived home on an embarkation leave and have not managed to collect much local sentiment, but it seems that I was elected anyway, so here goes.

Uncle Sam's fighting forces are home on leave, the lucky stuff! Among them are Captain John Pickett, Charles McQuag, Ernest Deland, and Mike Sanders. There are probably others and have missed as I've only been home a couple of days.

The Lions Club seems to be doing a good job of keeping things going in spite of losses. I saw several new faces at the luncheon yesterday, and two new members were initiated at that meeting. Doyle Crocker and Malcolm Miller, The Club building has been improved considerably since I had seen it, including a nice sanding and varnishing job on the floor.

As you who are Lions probably know, it has been a custom in our Club to read the names of all our members in service at each meeting. It seems now that they are not satisfied with this and have a movement on foot to secure pictures of all Lions in Service and hang them on the walls of the Club building. Hope most of them will have a more decorative effect than mine will, otherwise the project may have an adverse effect on the membership!

Things seem to be rocking along pretty smoothly here. A heavy frost some time ago wiped out almost all the green beans, but there are some trickling through now, and harvest of harder crops such as cabbage, etc. seems to be getting into full swing. On the whole, business appears to be good. Office receipts, which are usually a good barometer of general conditions, are up about 15 per cent over the previous year and the Office will advance a grade effective the first of the fiscal year.

Guess this will about fill the space I had allotted to me for this issue but can't resist the impulse to put in a little personal note. I've just completed boot camp and advanced training at Camp Peary, Va., and will return there after my leave. My address is Co. B, Platoon 2, S. D. 3013, Camp Peary, Williamsburg, Va., and I'd be glad to have a card from any of you who have time to write. Hope to be out there with you before long!

Post-War Board Continues Work

Two important steps were taken by the county-wide Industrial Committee of the Resources Development Board last week at its meeting in the County Courthouse. P. P. deMoya, L. L. Shirley, and George Mead, local representatives of the industrial group.

It was recommended that the county commission give earnest thought to setting aside throughout the county from state foreclosed lands as well as tracts of lands adaptable to agricultural and industrial experimental purposes. It is not easy in times of inflation or high prices for manufacturers to procure locations at prices or on lease terms sufficiently attractive to prevent their location elsewhere.

The second decision of the Industrial Committee was to assemble samples, or if bulk does not permit, photographs of every industry large or small in Palm Beach County—one man industry is of vital importance by cooperation and assistance it may ultimately develop into a sizeable industry employing many men and women.

The Industrial Committee is composed of: C. A. Bailey, Belle Glade; E. M. Wilson, Delray Beach; Edward Lang, West Palm Beach; P. P. deMoya, Pahokee; E. E. Branch, Lake Worth; L. L. Shirley, Pahokee; A. E. Kirchman, Belle Glade; Fred Rich, Lake Park; Willard Waters, Delray Beach; George Mead, Pahokee; and Gifford Mitchell, Chairman, West Palm Beach; all members appeal to each and every processor and manufacturer large or small to deliver a sample of their products at the Resources Development Board office, 2nd Floor, First Federal Savings and Loan Building, 215 S. Olive, Ave., West Palm Beach, or call the local industrial committee.

The purpose of this exhibit is threefold: 1st, to acquaint our own people with the Resources County-made products; 2nd, acquaint our tourists and other visitors with the Resources County plants in planning for post-war adjustments, acquaint the Committee with problems and products in order that the Resources Development Board can be helpful in surveying post-war markets and assist manufacturers in overcoming obstacles to growth which in turn limit employment.

P. P. deMoya of Pahokee, Vice-President of the Resources Development Board stated that instead of begin first to advance the idea of an exhibit of county-manufactured products as an aid or stimulant to post-war planning, we discover Broward County and Fort Lauderdale is already conducting such a display under the auspices of its post-war group, and that the Florida Economic Advancement Council, the State Chamber of Commerce, Florida Branch of the Smaller War Plants Corporation are jointly sponsoring from February 1st to 10th a similar exhibit on a state-wide scale at Jacksonville. The objective—inventory of industrial products and wartime manufacturing preliminary to mobilization or reconversion to post-war operation.

Upon call by Chairman Stanley Peeler the Advertising and Publicity Committee of the Resources Development Board, will meet Tuesday next at 2:00 P. M., report from the special committee headed by Steve Willis on designs for a Palm Beach County Trade-mark, and consideration of tentative outlines for immediate and long-range county advertising and publicity are on the docket.

R. J. Blank, Resources Development Board Manager and Art Kell, West Palm Beach City Publicity Director spent a portion of last week covering the Agricultural sections of Palm Beach County with members of Life Magazine staff. They were also assisted by County Agent M. U. Mount, Luther Jones, Ed. Creach, Lawrence Hughes, Thomas Fleming, A. H. Butts and son, Howard, and others. More than 500 crop and food production photos were taken, and a research writer compiled voluminous notes on crop production in all stages from planting to packing, and marketing. A feature article in Life Magazine is anticipated in the near future, which according to Paul Rardin, local member of the Publicity committee, would be of inestimable publicity value to the agriculture of Palm Beach County.

THE UNITED STATES NAVY COMPLIMENTS
FLORIDA POWER & LIGHT CO. EMPLOYEES

WE say, "Thanks to you, our customers and employees!"

Of course, we're proud to receive the special citation of merit from the Commandant of the Seventh Naval District of the United States Navy for "performance of duty in the electrical utility field beyond normal responsibility."

And we're glad, too, the credit goes where it is due to our employees for their hard and unremitting toil and to our customers for their complete cooperation.

These efforts and this cooperation made it possible to conserve fuel, manpower, transportation and materials vital to the prosecution of the war even in advance of the National Conservation Program.

Then, too, it was possible to change the company from one primarily serving a great national resort playground to one which not only kept step with the sudden and vast expansion program of the U.S. Navy but actually was always ready with sufficient electric service whenever and wherever the Navy wanted it.

With your help, that has been accomplished. Together with you we share the honor of receiving this special citation of merit from the Navy.
